recognizes he would like to merge those into a longer term perspective on where we are going. In short, we have no immediate answer on this one but we have planted a seed towards progress. 5. I discussed my trin and got his general approval for going to 6. In the conversation on long-term goals, he lamented the fact that we really don't have a long-term policy with respect to Afghanistan or Iran. He said, for instance, that the things we have going like COCOM and grain embargo are all right but not pointed towards some effective solution. I used that opportunity to show him the statistics on the Soviet grain forecast. I also used that as an opportunity to stress the fact that we had to be patient and have some policies that didn't have a final solution that was yisible. 7. I delivered the Intelligence Memorandum on possible trials of the hostages. 8. Ron Spiers mentioned to the Secretary that Bill Miller of the shat was yisible. 7. 	8. Ron Spiers mentioned to the Secretary that Bill Miller of the SCI had come to see him requesting regular distribution of the INR Daily immary. Ron was generally in favor of acceding to this request if the ecretary and I concurred. I expressed some modest reservations about t, pointing out that we had had problems in keeping sensitive, near raw ntelligence off the Hill until we could do something about it. The ecretary told Spiers not to grant this to Miller but to tell Miller hat Bayh would have to call him directly. I suspect if Bayh does call be Secretary will accede.	2
